

Logistics for 2022 Mini-Conference, ASA CHS Section
Friday 5 August, 2022

We're excited to announce the 2022 ASA Comparative Historical Section's Mini-Conference, to take place Friday August 5, 2022. Attached you will find the official flyer for the event as well as a full schedule of the day's activities. We are still working out some details, but this is roughly what the schedule will look like. And we hope that it will help you plan your travel. We'll announce additional updates on the website.

Registration: All participants must register in advance for the event. Please use this link here (also on the flyer and the CHS webpage). We request that all participants register ASAP, before June 15.

Registration is currently capped at 120 participants (due to space and COVID restrictions). All registrants will be asked to reconfirm their participation by July to ensure that we make room for maximum participation within the designated limit (120).

Location: All panel sessions will be in Taper Hall on the University of Southern California-Dornsife campus. We have two rooms reserved (THH 202 & 208) but most events will take place in the larger auditorium THH 202.

The USC Campus is a short train ride away from the LA Convention Center/JW Marriott where the main ASA Conference is being held.

Attendance: We encourage people to attend the entire day's events if possible. The plenary session at the end of the day will open into a Town Hall meeting for collective reflection on the day's conversations. This is an opportunity for us to think hard about new paths forward for the discipline.

Optional Drinks: We invite all participants—panelists and audience alike—to continue the conversation over drinks and food after the event. This informal gathering will take place after the mini-conference at 6PM. The location is to be decided but it will be nearby.

Lunch: We are looking into providing lunch for all registered participants depending on COVID restrictions at the time of the conference. Please indicate in your registration that you will be present for this so we can arrange food accordingly.
